Bewildered by modern life? Tweeted, texted, and Facebooked out? You're still probably doing better than the hilariously stressed-out siblings in "Vanya and Sonia and Masha and Spike," trying to find their ways in a world gone crazy.

This 2013 Tony Award-winning play is filled with wonderful, quirky characters. Middle-aged siblings Vanya and Sonia share a home and a life of constant bickering. Their movie star sister, Masha, swoops in to shake things up with her newest boy toy, Spike, in tow. Add a sassy maid and a young aspiring actress to the mix and the chaos escalates. This comedy is filled with surprises and deliciously witty humor.

Jeff Kilgore, Renee Rebman, and Johnna Gustafson star in Christopher Durang's Tony-winning play about three siblings, Vanya (the patient one), Sonia (the moody one), and Masha (the movie star), who put the fun in dysfunction. Jacob Lewis co-stars as Masha's scandalous boy-toy Spike; Grayson Andreassian co-stars as the wildly prophetic housekeeper Cassandra; and Sara Labor co-stars as the eager young actress Nina. This show is full of comic gold!

CAUTION: Contains adult language and sexual humor.
